

Maritime training

Safety and reducing environmental risks in harbour operations are the aims behind a vocational training programme being developed for maritime pilots.

The Certipilot training is an international project co-financed by the EU.

“Certipilot will contribute to further develop Malta as a maritime hub and a centre of excellence for maritime services, as well as enhance the safety and environmental protection of Maltese ports,” said Transport Minister Austin Gatt.